

THE WALLACE HIGH SCHOOL

HEAD OF RELIGIOUS STUDIES (Teaching Allowance 2) This post becomes vacant on 7 November 2022

The Head of Department is accountable to the Principal through the Vice Principal (Curriculum) for the effective leadership and management of the Department.

BACKGROUND INFORMATION

The Wallace High School is a co-educational, voluntary grammar school founded in 1880. The annual intake of pupils into Year 8 is 170 and there are some 300 pupils in the Sixth Form. The school draws its pupils from Lisburn and the surrounding area. The Religious Studies Department consists of two full-time Religious Studies specialists and a number of other interested members of staff. Religious Studies in Wallace High School is taught in a non-denominational manner and seeks to respect the pupil's right to form their own views. The study of world faiths other than Christianity is also encouraged. The Department contributes to the ethos of the school by promoting the personal, moral, social and spiritual development of the pupils.

RESPONSIBILITY

Under the direction of the Principal and Vice Principal (Curriculum), the Head of Religious Studies is responsible for the leadership, organisation and efficient running of the Department in accordance with school policies and practice, and in pursuit of high standards of pupil achievement. The postholder will also be responsible to the Principal and appropriate Vice Principal for the delivery of morning and special assemblies throughout the school. The Head of Religious Studies is also responsible for the annual programme of school assembly themes.

PERSONNEL SPECIFICATION

The school seeks to appoint a successful and effective teacher who shows energy, enthusiasm, commitment and adaptability to change.

The newly appointed Head of Department will have expertise in the teaching of Religious Studies and be able to demonstrate the following skills essential to the role:

- The ability to lead, manage and motivate people to work towards common goals
- The ability to solve problems and make decisions, seeking advice as appropriate
- The ability to communicate effectively both orally and in writing
- The ability to plan time effectively and organise oneself well

The main duties and responsibilities of the post are:

TEACHING AND LEARNING

- 1 To be responsible for the effective management of teaching and learning of Religious Studies throughout the school, including GCSE, AS, A2 Religious Studies and general Religious Education.
- 2 To keep teaching methods and syllabuses under constant review, and to produce and submit annual schemes of work to the Vice Principal.
- 3 To evolve and administer appropriate systems to monitor the progress of pupils:
 - (a) through supervising the departmental homework timetable
 - (b) through a programme of on-going assessment
 - (c) to ensure that pupils are prepared and entered for external examinations at the appropriate level
- 4 To set, monitor and evaluate expectations and targets for improvement in keeping with the school development plan.
- 5 To monitor, evaluate and report departmental examination results using school data as it is made available by the Principal.
- 6 To encourage and monitor the appropriate use of ICT in teaching and learning.

LEADING AND MANAGING STAFF

- 7 To actively promote staff development through:
 - (a) setting high individual standards and encouraging others to do the same by discussion of good practice both at Departmental meetings and with individuals as the occasion demands
 - (b) allocation of classes which takes account of each teacher's experience and responsibilities and the needs of the Department
 - (c) involving staff in decision-making within the Department
 - (d) sending representatives to suitable courses
 - (e) dissemination of information from courses attended
- 8 To develop constructive working relationships, teamwork and mutual support amongst colleagues within the Department
- 9 By means of regular meetings to supervise closely the work of inexperienced and, in particular beginning teachers, and to report their progress to the appropriate member of the Leadership Team.
- 10 To review staff performance as required by school policy, and recommend and arrange staff development as appropriate
- 11 To advise the Principal on the appointment of staff for the Department.
- 12 To liaise with Heads of Year, the Learning Support Teachers and Careers Staff as necessary.

EFFICIENT AND EFFECTIVE DEPLOYMENT OF RESOURCES

- 13 To manage the resources allocated to the Department in an efficient and effective manner.

- 14 To ensure that the rooms and facilities used by the Department are kept in good condition, reporting any maintenance issues to the Head of Premises.
- 15 To ensure the implementation of health and safety regulations as appropriate.
- 16 To use the Department's accommodation to create an effective and stimulating environment.

DIRECTION AND DEVELOPMENT OF RELIGIOUS EDUCATION

- 17 To attend the meetings of Heads of Department.
- 18 To take part in curriculum development and review as required.
- 19 To hold regular Departmental meetings with agenda and recorded minutes which should be submitted to the Principal and Vice Principal.
- 20 In keeping with the ethos and aims of the school to be responsible for the delivery and promotion of Religious Studies and other related areas such as morning and special assemblies throughout the school.

NOTES:

- 1 The above responsibilities are subject to the general duties and responsibilities contained in the statement of conditions of employment.
- 2 This job definition is not necessarily a comprehensive definition of the post. It will be reviewed regularly and may be subject to modification or amendment at any time after due consideration.
